According to the Terms & Conditions of the notes, and in furtherance of the undertakings described in the EU Decision, RP and Paribas entered into an agency agreement on October 22, 1999 (the "Agency Agreement"). The Agency Agreement specifies, inter alia, that on the occasion of each general meeting of Rhodia's shareholders RP is to send a signed blank proxy to Rhodia through its agent Paribas, authorizing Rhodia's board of directors to vote the Rhodia shares held in the Share Escrow Account in favor of all resolutions proposed or approved by the board, and against all others. - In undertakings agreed to in Europe and the U.S. as one of the 6.

board of directors to vote Aventis' shares in favor of all resolutions proposed or approved by the board, and against all others. These protections continue to be enforced and are regularly applied.

- 11. I understand that on December 7, 1999 the Parties and the Commission executed an agreement containing the Order. Like the undertakings to which the Parties agreed in Europe, the Order requires the Company, inter alia, to reduce its holdings in Rhodia to 5 percent or less of Rhodia's issued and outstanding voting securities by April 22, 2004, six months from the date of the end of the note exchange period.
- 12. Aventis currently holds approximately 45.2 million shares of Rhodia stock, or approximately 25 percent of Rhodia's issued and outstanding voting securities. These shares are held in the Company's name in escrow, pending either transfer to the holders of the exchangeable notes in the Note Exchange Plan, or expiration of the note exchange period.
- Note Exchange Plan ineffective. The terms and conditions of the notes were structured such that an exchange would become attractive to the noteholders at a price of approximately EUR 23 per share. Although Rhodia's share price was EUR 18 at the time of the offer, shortly after the Order was entered the company's share price began a dramatic decline from which it has never recovered. Rhodia's share price today is about EUR 9, far below the point where noteholders can be expected to request an exchange.
- 14. Because there is no reason to expect significant improvement in Rhodia's share price in the near to medium term, Aventis believes that it is highly unlikely that the noteholders will convert their notes into Rhodia shares. This will force Aventis to unload as much as 25 percent of Rhodia's outstanding voting securities between October 2003 and April 2004.
- Aventis believes that such a quick divestiture could cause a collapse in Rhodia's share price, which would in turn reduce the value of the believe.

Aventis remains committed to achieving the required disposition of its 16. Rhodia holdings by April 22, 2004, without causing undue injury to Rhodia, its shareholders, and to the member in manual Assessin injuly parties or 1 1 1 14 14 15
