PANEL 1: THE NOTICE FUNCTION OF PATENTS

9:00-12:00, break 10:30-10:45

Experts from academia and the bar will address the extent to which the patent system adequately fulfills its notice function – for example, ensuring that firms seeking to develop or license innovative technologies can obtain clear and timely information regarding the existence and scope of relevant patents and patent applications. Specifically, panelists will consider how various patent law doctrines and patent examination procedures affect notice, including (1) legal standards such as rules of claim construction and standards governing indefiniteness, written description, and enablement, and (2) examination practices and procedures, including notice available from information supplied by applicants and examiners, the use of continuing applications, and the publication of applications. Panelists will also discuss the extent to which the sheer number of potentially relevant patents and patent applications hinders effective notice and will consider whether any adjustments to the patent system are warranted.

LUNCH BREAK

12:00-1:30

PANEL 2: PATENT REMEDIES

1:30-4:30, break 3:00-3:15

This panel will discuss trends in damage awards, the current standards governing patent damages, and their impact on patent value and innovation. It will examine various approaches to damages calculation and the evidence used in assessing damages, particularly in the context of reasonable royalty determinations. This panel will also explore permanent injunctions in patent cases in the wake of the Supreme Court's eBay decision and the impact of recent changes to the doctrine of willful infringement.
